NetScript Coding School Institute

Program Number:	NCSI#1
Program Title (Course):	Bio-Medical Occupational Skills Training
Program Description:	Workforce Development Training. Specific to initial training for healthcare support services occupations. 12 Weeks of Classroom & Online Instruction, Instructor Led with Weekly Assignments. 2, 4 Hour Classroom Sessions Per Week. This course provides an evaluation process along with testing.
Training Location:
Contact Person:	Shelly Rideout MSHI, RHIA
Contact Email:	Shelly@netscript.us
Schedule:	Contact Registrar 870-291-0532
Program Cost:	$3,000.00

N101 – Medical Terminology & Anatomy for Coders – This course integrates expanded anatomy, physiology, and pharmacology coverage with medical terminology specifically tailored to ICD-10-CM and ICD-10-PCS guidelines. Students will learn root words prefixes, suffixes and combing forms used in medical terminology.

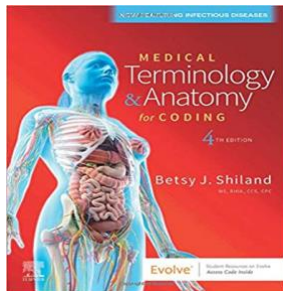

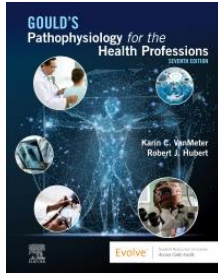

TITLE: Medical Terminology & Anatomy for Coding, 5th edition ISBN: 9780323722360
PUBLISHER: Elsevier

N105 - Pathophysiology for Coders – This course is an introduction to human disease processes and treatment. Students will become familiar with common diseases by understanding the etiology (cause), signs and symptoms, diagnostic criteria, tests and procedures, associated complications and treatment regiments including surgical procedures and/or medications.

Shelly Rideout MSHI, RHIA
NCSI NetScript Coding School Institute
P.O. Box 408
Clarksville, Arkansas 72830
479-979-7103
EIN: 81-3366687
Formation Date: 26 July 2016
Arkansas Division of Higher Education Approved
G.I. Bill Approved
Rural Endowment Approved

1

NetScript Coding School Institute

TITLE: Gould's Pathophysiology for the Health Professions, 7th edition ISBN: 9780323792882
PUBLISHER: Elsevier

N110 - Pharmacology for Coders – This course is an introduction to drug classification and adverse drug reactions and the implications of diagnostic test results. Students will become familiar with drug treatments for various diseases.
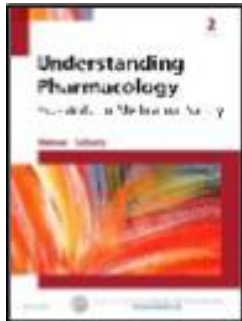

TITLE: Understanding Pharmacology, 2nd edition ISBN: 9780323339223
PUBLISHER: Elsevier